Community Legal Centres Queensland says there has been a 600% increase in people seeking help for domestic violence support in the past five years. CLC Qld took on more than 4400 domestic violence cases last year. James Farrell, Director, says they helped more than 60,000 people last financial year but that is well short of the number of people looking for help. Farrell says funding cuts will further reduce the number of people they can help.
