

Funding for DV Legal Helpline

QUEENSLAND'S only state-wide Domestic Violence Legal Helpline, which is operated by Women's Legal Service Queensland (WLSQ), received a boost in funding.

The Palaszczuk government committed a further $790,000 of funding from 2017-2020, which adds to the pool of $39 million of Commonwealth Government funding announced in April by the Federal Attorney-General and Minister for Women. WLSQ CEO Angela Lynch applauded the move.

"This is a clear message of support for Queensland women and their children living with domestic violence," she said.
