

COMMUNITY

Toowoomba's legal fraternity steps out

by PETER HARDWICK

19th May 2018 10:00 AM

A LARGE group of Toowoomba's legal fraternity braved the early morning chill to take part in the Downs and South West Queensland Law Association's annual charity walk this week.

The annual walk from the Hume St courthouse around Queens Park raises funds and awareness for LawRight, an association that organises legal representation for the disadvantaged and those who don't qualify for Legal Aid assistance.

"Basically LawRight looks after the battlers or those who fall through the cracks," explained Downs and South West Queensland Law Association president Bill Munro of Munro Legal.

About 35 or so members of Toowoomba's legal fraternity set out from the Toowoomba Courthouse at 7am for the walk around Queens Park where a hearty hot breakfast awaited for the participants after the walk.

Funds were raised through the walk and in-house morning teas and the like while other participants set up Facebook donation sites.

The Chronicle

Funerals held for Margaret River shooting victims

Panthers keen to build on positives

🕒 10 minutes ago

Mbye called into Queensland camp

🕒 13 minutes ago

Vikki's shock baby revelation

🕒 21 minutes ago

